★★★★★ Holds more than 36!

By ProudMommy819 on September 19, 2012

I'm happy with this purchase. Sturdy enough to hold the Keurig. I also found that if you flip every other K-cup upside down, you will be able to fit more than 36 K-cups in the drawer.

★★★★★ Morning coffee

By Lillie Bertrand on October 2, 2012

Morning coffee just got a whole lot easier with this Keurig K-cup organiser. I have been wanting one for months since I saw them in Bed, Bath & Beyond, but got a better price here on Amazon. Made of metal mesh welded/soldered over a metal frame, both the outer shell and the drawer are very sturdy and do not wiggle at all under the weight of the Keurig machine when we use it. Each of the 6 rows holds 6 K-cups with room to spare. We also use the refillable cups- Solo-fill Reusable & Refillable K-cup® for Keurig® Brewers and Ekobrew Cup, Refillable Cup for Keurig K-cup Brewers, Brown, 1-Count - and they fit into the rows just fine, too. There are hard rubber "feet" on the bottom corners to protect your counter tops, and a covering on top to protect the unit and prevent spills from getting into your drawer. I tested this by accidentally spilling water onto it when I was refilling the Keurig, and it just puddled there without seeping through, so I didn't have to scramble to wipe it up right away. It's easy to clean. I put the drawer into the dishwasher (but didn't put it through the heat dry cycle), and

★★★★★ Good service, good product, poor utility
By jjshopper on October 15, 2012

Verified Purchase
The service from this Amazon supplier was fast and efficient. The product was packaged well. The drawer is well made, operates smoothly, and, in my opinion is good value for the price. HOWEVER, please be aware of two drawbacks: the footprint of the drawer is quite big (cut the dimensions out of newspaper and put on the counter under your coffeemaker to visualize the space you will lose), and, fatally for my needs, the drawer raises the coffeemaker high enough under my (standard) top cabinets that I cannot fully raise the handle to insert the coffee pod. This product will not work if placed under cabinets.

★★★★★ Sturdy, Stackable, Vibration-Free
By Mr. Jim on April 29, 2013

Verified Purchase
Stacking
I purchased two of these, then went back and bought a third a few weeks later. I have them stacked three high and they feel very stable. They don't shift when opening drawers or pushing gently and don't vibrate at all when operating the coffee maker. They have rubber feet that don't slide on the plastic top of my refrigerator and sink nicely into the foam top of the chassis underneath keeping it secured in place. The top surface seems fairly rigid, as I have not yet noticed any drooping from the weight of the Keurig and Baileys on top.

Contents
I can fit between 6 and 8 K-cups per column depending on the shape of the cup sidewalls and the orientation of the cups (reference customer images).

Operation
My first drawer operates very fluid; I would have guessed it was on rollers, but it's not. My second drawer required a little work; I had to bend the rear upper-framework of the drawer slightly to keep it from rubbing on the ceiling of the chassis. So, drawer number two works rather swell now. My third drawer also operates rather smooth right out of the box with the friction being between that of drawer#1 and corrected drawer#2.
When opened, the drawers are self supporting. The drawer stops opening once all but the rear 1" remains inside the chassis; this leverage keeps the drawer suspended open without any fear of it falling out onto the floor. If needed, you can lift the drawer at an angle and remove it just like any desk drawer can be removed.

Packaging
Don't be alarmed when first receiving the box and seeing 'Glass Drawer' on the top label; the center label should correctly state mesh drawer (reference customer images).
DON'T FORGET to clip the zip-tie on the front before trying to open the drawer. Read more >

★★★★★ Excellent!
By Dan Nebhut on March 22, 2013

Easy action on the drawer, solid construction, and easy to keep clean. The top is a bit textured and serves well as a spot to keep salt/pepper/etc on the counter top.

A word of caution... This drawer (and all like it I suspect) will not fit under your Keurig and still allow very well made. holds lots of k-cups, no need to store it in a cabinet and forget where they are! very important in my case since I'm a senior citizen!

enough room for your pod to open far enough to make a new cup of coffee if the machine an drawer are stacked under a standard cabinet overhang. It's not a big deal, since the drawer provides flat "counter space" on it's top, but it is something to keep in mind.

★★★★★ Practical and counter saving - LOVE it!
By Henry's mom on August 30, 2012

Verified Purchase
I have limited counter space, so when I saw this drawer, I thought it would be perfect. It is. We love it. Since my husband and I drink a lot of coffee, the 36-count drawer holds a our coffee machine and (almost) a weeks-worth of K cups. It has a nonskid mat on top, so our Keurig doesn't move. Both fit under our cabinets nicely. I have zero complaints. I love this product!

★★★★★ Coffee Storage drawer
By Amazon Customer on August 30, 2012

Verified Purchase
I wanted a convenient way to store my Keurig cups and found this storage drawer was the perfect choice. The machine easily sits on top of the drawer which makes it very easy to access the K-cup of your choice. The drawer holds plenty of the K-cups and refilling it is easy. I am very pleased with this product.
